

Birds that raise their young at Douglas Park

Douglas Park is on the west side of Chicago, in the North Lawndale community.

Indigo Bunting

Father singing to announce his territory.

Baltimore Oriole

Mother oriole just fed babies (hidden in nest).

American Goldfinch

Mother gathers thistle down to build nest.

Barn Swallow

Young swallow watches parents catch bugs.

Common Yellowthroat

Father yellowthroat has food for his babies.

American Robin

Young, but old enough to find its own food.

Pied-billed Grebe

Mother helps young grebe swallow big fish.

Cooper's Hawk

Mother hawk defends her fluffy white babies.

Mallard

Mallard ducklings huddle beside the lagoon.